Turkey: D&B has acquired A Turkish registry file (1 million records +) which includes whole Turkish Business universe. The load of this data is aimed for completion Q4 2008. A brand new data source secured providing monthly updated data on all debts to the National Revenue Agency (>5K Leva – Bulgarian national currency), categorized into debtors with and without property (fixed assets). The volumes of data expected are approximately 40K updates per month. The data source provides Bulstat Number which stands for a unique Government Gazette number for all businesses in Bulgaria, and therefore matching of this data to our database will be automated. Locally the data received from this source is considered indicative of possible payment and cashflow issues. The work now commences on finding appropriate workflows to ensure that this data is matched, mapped and loaded to D&B database in a timely regular fashion.

■ Let's learn about the Russian Financials...

There are 700K Russian private joint stock companies which are legally required to publish their accounts with the governmental tax office annually. Financial statements have to be filed by March annually and then become available gradually between September and October. Once received locally the financial statements become available to customers very quickly, processing and loading of 700K financial statements would take no more than 10 working days to the D&B database. Given that the Russian data on D&B database is being updated with regular frequency all records loaded with latest financial statement will be made immediately available to the customers.

For those companies that are not required to file accounts we would during our investigation process still very much aim to receive from the subject company directly a picture of their financial position. This may vary from a full financial statement to an abstract of their latest financial statement or perhaps even just some sales figure estimates. Even though the non-limited liability companies are not required to supply their financial statements, a primary key to D&B's success in collecting financial statements is the fact that we have been doing it for so long. Many companies now clearly understand the value of sharing financial information with D&B. It makes it easier for them to do business with their suppliers, their bank, their insurance company.

■ Are there special characters or special ornamentations in the Business Information across EMC?

Recently, a number of customers have been inquiring whether there're any special characters or special ornamentations in the Business Information across EMC as the customers who for instance are doing the local mail and marketing campaign or data matching in the country's local language, require and prefer to have data in the local language opposed to English. To illustrate that, here is an example of how Russian Business Information looks like in English and Russian.

■ Find out more about the Turkish Data...

Financial Statements - all Turkish companies must file their financial statements to the Tax Office. It is not compulsory for proprietorship concerns to prepare formal financial statements provided that their annual sales turnover does not exceed 140,000 YTL. The Tax Office does not release or share this data. Unless the companies provide, there is no way to obtain financial statements except for listed companies whose financials are publicly announced quarterly. There are about 300 listed companies.

Companies publicly issuing debt instruments must also publish their accounts but due to economic conditions only a few of them do so nowadays. The good news here is that a lot of Turkish businesses understand the value D&B delivers and by overcoming their privacy concerns voluntarily provide financial statements to D&B as there is a long standing tradition of sharing information to facilitate trade. D&B's collection efforts are focused on companies that our customers are likely to inquire about when they come to us for insight.

Payment Data - at the moment, due to the local regulations, the availability of Turkish payment data is quite limited across the country. However, we do obtain and offer a collection of defaults on promissory notes and post-dated checks enabling us to raise an awareness among the customers on the risky clients.

Court Decisions - the court information is very difficult to gather in Turkey as the Turkish courts are widely scattered across the country and there is no electronic link among them. Recently, under e-government project, the Ministry of Justice has developed a database for some court decisions. However, only lawyers are allowed to have access to this database and only for the cases they are involved in. Some court decisions such as seizure of property, bankruptcy notices may be occasionally published in the media. The key takeaway here: as we're in the business to help our customers make better decisions, we use several data sources to collect information and always seek for the new ones to obtain the valuable business details.
